What an odd looking affair indeed is the "quad." This strangely constructed bicycle is the result of the law governing the acceptance of speed records by the League of American Wheelmen.

The league from the very first refused to recognize those records which were paced by any power other than supplied by man. It is quite easy for a cyclist to travel very rapidly when the incentive is a horse, steam or electricity. But when it was found necessary to supply a pacemaker which could give the necessary speed to lead the time maker on, two or even three men on a tandem or triplet were not able to hold the pace. And so the quad-ruplet was invented. Four men can ride the quadruplet and extract tremendous speed out of it. It is constructed on the best scientifically mechanical principles. Its weight is only 73 1/2 pounds. The wheel base is 100 inches and the gear is 90 inches. This large gear imparts awful power to the chain.

Three sizes of chain are used, the front 1 1/2 of an inch thick, the middle 1 1/4 of an inch and the rear 5-16 of an inch. It is held by some experts in speed matters that four men of the caliber of say Johnson, Tyler, Ziegler and Edwards, can ride a mile on the "quad" in one minute and twenty seconds. It costs about $250 to build a "quad" such as the one described.

Primaries open at 4 o'clock. Close at 7 o'clock to-night.

Local Senate and Legislature.
The civil government classes of the High School met in the assembly room yesterday afternoon and organized a general assembly. It was at first intended to organize only a house of representatives, but as there were 150 pupils who became members, making too large a body to be handled easily, a senate was also organized. This was done by the teachers of the classes, Miss Simms and Mr. Eichinger, going over the roll and taking every third name for the senate, giving that body fifty-one members. The principles of equal suffrage prevail at the High School, as the newly organized legislature is composed of both boys and girls.

A temporary organization was formed and the lower house elected the following officers:

Speaker—Arthur Clary.
Clerk—Jessie Morgan.
Assistant Clerk—Allice Bevans.
Doorkeeper—Eugene Webster.
Postmaster—Charles Robinson.
It was decided to let the teachers of the classes appoint a governor and a lieutenant governor, and Chan Housum was appointed governor.
The object of the organization is to familiarize the students with the working of the law-making bodies. An impeachment trial is one of the things proposed, and as the pupils have all no doubt all been reading the newspaper accounts of the Indiana legislature and some of the male members have had considerable practice on the football field, some interesting sessions are expected.

BE SURE and go to the Primaries.

Enterprise Closes.
Yesterday was the last day of school for the winter term. The patrons of the school, about 11 o'clock, brought their baskets well filled with the most tempting viands. A splendid dinner was served, in which all present took active part. After dinner a program was rendered by the pupils which interested the visitors very much. After the program was finished the teacher, C. C. Walters, gave the pupils a treat. Among those present were County Superintendent J.
G. Keller. All expressed themselves as having a good time, and the very best of good feeling existed among all.

This is the first school year for the new district. Enterprise, and it has begun its career with bright prospects before it.

Capt. Crossman Will Make a Sketch Chart

SHOWING THE COURSE OF HIS VESSEL

And Her Location with Reference to Cuba at the Time She was Wantonly Fired Upon by the Spanish Gunboat.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—It was stated at the state department yesterday afternoon, in response to a direct question, that it was thought "exceedingly likely" that Capt. Crossman would respond in person to the request of Acting Secretary Uhl for an affidavit and a sketch chart showing the course of the vessel from the nearest point of the island of Cuba.

The officers attached to the naval intelligence office have been endeavoring to identify the Spanish vessel that fired on the Allianca, but so far they have not succeeded. They say that all the Spanish gunboats in Cuban waters answer the description furnished by Capt. Crossman of his assailant, in being small, old and of ancient pattern. They differ in color only.

Will Send the Chart to the State Department.

New York, March 15.—Capt. Crossman said he would send a chart to the state department showing where the attack occurred. He said he knew his vessel was at least four miles off Cape May, which is the easternmost point of Cuba.

Capt. Crossman continued: "The man-of-war which attacked us was broad on her port quarter. I will say right here, and this is a statement which I have not made before, that had the man-of-war signalled us with the international code I would have stopped immediately. She raised no such signals, however. Her fire was practically a command, and I am not a man to take orders from anybody, except my superior officers."

A little more in regard to the identity of the Spanish man-of-war was learned this morning. Capt. Crossman said that he could plainly see that she had a copper bottom. In the opinion of experienced seamen, this indicates that she must have been a wooden-hulled ship, for copper bottoms are, as a general rule, used only on iron ships. If that be so, Allianca's assailant was evidently one of Spain's old ships, for Spain has not built a wooden ship in the last ten years. The state department should, therefore, maritime circles think, have little difficulty in discovering the identity of the man-of-war.

WARNING TO SPAIN.

A Repetition of the Allianca Insult Will be Regarded as an Act of War.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—A message was, by direction of Secretary Gresham, yesterday cabled to Minister Taylor at Madrid. He was instructed to call at once on the minister for foreign affairs and say to him that the route traversed by the Allianca is the one followed by American merchant marine, and that this government believes that American ships traversing the sea path should be permitted to go unchecked. He is further instructed to say that this government expects that ships flying our flag will henceforth traverse that route unmolested, and that while the Allianca incident is reserved for a future and separate adjustment, a repetition of such an interference with American commerce will be regarded as an unfriendly act toward the United States.

Four Men Buried Under Fallen Walls—Costly Flames at Laramie, Wyo.

LARAMIE, Wyo., March 15.—Four men were buried under the walls of the Commercial Trading Co's building, which was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. James Foster was taken out dead, and George Cordiner, a university student, was fatally injured. J. S. & A. M. Watkins' store, adjoining, was crushed by the falling walls, and the stock was buried under the debris. The stock of the Meyers Dry Goods Co., which occupied one of the burned buildings, was destroyed.
The total loss is $150,000; insurance, $60,000.

AN UNITED EMPIRE

The Dream of Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner.

LONDON, March 15.—Yesterday's newspapers comment upon a speech delivered by Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian high commissioner, at the Artistic club on March 9. Sir Charles said he was convinced that parliamentary federation was impracticable. The consolidation or union of the empire was the goal toward which hopes should be directed. He was sure that Newfoundland would soon join Canada. He expected the Australian colonies and then South Africa to follow the example set by the Canadian provinces.

lights.

UNDER MILITARY CONTROL

Winchester, Va., Threatened with Burning by the Negro Population.

WINCHESTER, Va., March 15.—For the second time since the war, Winchester is practically under military control.
On the 5th instant Thornton Parker, colored, was arrested for attempted criminal assault on Mrs. Melton, a respectable married lady near Middletown, this county. The details of the crime are disgusting. Parker, after being fully identified as the assailant, was lodged in jail here, and indicted on Monday by a special grand jury and his trial set for to-day.

Threats of lynching have been made, and the negroes of this city have expressed their intention to rescue the negro and burn the town. Suppressed excitement and indignation have been manifest for several days, especially when the negroes paraded the town in groups on Tuesday night and were disbanded by the police force.

The municipal officers therefore decided to place the city under military protection last night. Three companies—several men—of the 10th and Virginia regiments, under Col. J.
C. Baker, arrived here on the 7:30 p.
m. train and are virtually in charge.
Everything was quiet at 8 o'clock last night and the presence of the troops will probably prevent any further disturbance.

A Pertinent Criticism.

ROME, March 15.—Several newspapers comment to-day upon the Italian murders in Colorado. All deplore the slaughter, while refraining from violent language. The Tribune says that the Washington government ought to keep the doctrine of states rights from enabling each state from becoming in turn the asylum of assassins.

Will Close the Schools and Pray for Histanic.

BERLIN, March 15.—The Prussian government has ordered that all schools be closed on April 1, Bismarck's fered in all the Evangelical churches for Bismarck on Sunday, March 31.

Will Turn Over His Department Early in April.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Postmaster-General Bissell said yesterday that he would turn over the affairs of the department to Mr. Wilson in the early part of April.

HUMBERT THE GOOD

Celebrates His Birthday by Liberating a Large Number of Prisoners.

ROME, March 15.—In honor of the fifty-first birthday of King Humbert his majesty yesterday issued a proclamation of amnesty to a large number of prisoners of certain classes. Among those set at liberty is Capt. Romani, the French officer who was condemned last November to fourteen months' imprisonment for spying. Amnesty is also extended to most of the participants in the riots at Massa Carrara, as well as to many of the Sicilian rioters who are serving terms in prison.

THOROUGH INVESTIGATION

A BOLD ASSERTION.

Ever since Prof. Koch startled the world by promising to cure consumption with the Koch lymph and his complete failure to do so, the people have been looking for some discovery which would prove an absolute, certain cure for that dread disease. Over a quarter of a century ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, put in a claim for a medicine, which he had discovered and used, in his extensive practice, that would cure ninety-eight per cent. of all cases of consumption when taken in all its early stages. Time has proved that his assertion was based on facts gained from experience.
His "Golden Medical Discovery," which treats of all Throat, Bronchial and Lung diseases, also Asthma and Catarrh, that will be mailed by the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., on receipt of six cents in stamps, to pay postage.

Consumption, as most everybody knows, is first manifested by feeble vitality, loss of strength, emaciation, then cough, then coughs soon develop, as cough, difficult breathing, or bleeding from lungs, when investigation proves that tubercular deposits have formed in the lungs. It is earnestly advised that the "Discovery" be taken early and the latter stages of the disease can thereby be easily avoided.
To build up solid flesh and strong after the grip, pneumonia, ("lung fever"), exhausting fevers, and other prostrating diseases, it has no equal. It does not make fat like cod liver oil and its nasty compounds, but, solid, wholesome flesh.

WILLIAM L. WILSON.

Political Record of the Newly-Made Postmaster General.

William L. Wilson, who succeeds Mr. Bissell as postmaster general, is best known to the country in connection with his recent tariff work in congress. He has been a tariff student since he first entered congressional life in 1882, but it was not until the present congress that he became chairman of the ways and means committee, and as such the official leader of the majority in the house.

Prior to his first election to congress in 1882, he had taken little part in politics, except in being a delegate to the democratic national convention at Cincinnati, and subsequently an elector-at-large from West Virginia. Early in 1883 he was chosen president of the

POSTMASTER GENERAL WILSON.

University of West Virginia. This would have fixed Mr. Wilson's sphere of work had it not been for a political rupture and party split at his home in Charleston, W. Va., which was settled by the opposing factions uniting on Mr. Wilson. The campaign was a hot one and Mr. Wilson finally won by nine votes.

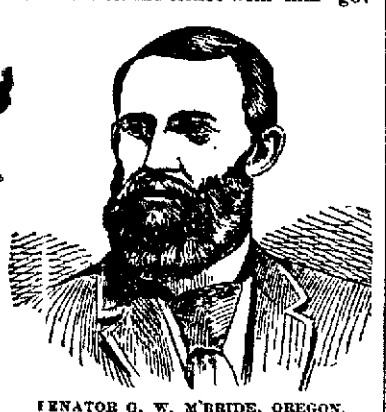

He was then continually reelected to congress. He received good committee assignments from the first, going on judiciary, appropriations and ways and means. His experience shortly after the war as a professor of law in Columbian college equipped him for the work on the judiciary committee.

In the four congresses of recent years he has been the Morrison bill, the Mills bill, the McKinley bill and the Wilson bill—Mr. Wilson took a leading part. He did much of the work of constructing the Mills bill and he and Representative Breckinridge started on a successful tour of platform speeches throughout the east, endorsing President Cleveland's tariff-revision message. During the Mills-Crisp contest for the speakership, Mr. Wilson cast his lot with Mr. Mills and when Mr. Crisp won the designated Mr. Springer chairman of the ways and means committee. When reelected speaker, however, Mr. Crisp chose Mr. Wilson to be chairman of the ways and means committee and in this capacity he framed the measure which was the basis of the present tariff law.

OREGON'S NEW SENATOR.

Said to Be a Man of More Than Ordinary Ability.

After one of the severest struggles recorded in legislative history, the assembly of the state of Oregon elected a successor to Senator Dole. The new senator, whose term of office began March 4, is named George Washington McBride. He is a native son of Oregon, having been born in Yamhill in 1844. He is a son of Dr. James McBride, who was well known as one of the earliest and sturdiest pioneers of the state. McBride was educated in the common schools and at Williams university, Salem, Ore. In 1867 his parents left Yamhill county and located at St. Helen's, Columbia county, at which place he has made his home ever since. In 1889 he was elected to the Oregon house of representatives, and was subsequently chosen speaker of that body. In 1890 Mr. McBride was nominated by the republicans for secretary of state and was elected. His popularity is attested by the fact that two principal nominees on the ticket with him—governor and treasurer—were defeated.

SENATOR G. W. MCBRIDE, OREGON.

Mr. McBride performed the duties of his office so satisfactorily that he was re-nominated by acclamation in 1890 and reelected by a handsome majority. He served out the full term and retired the first of the present year to give way to his successor.

Pensioners Being Fleeced.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14.—The Pension Bureau has been greatly annoyed for several months past by impostors, persons representing themselves to be special examiners connected with the bureau, who have been operating in the State of Pennsylvania, and fleeing unsuspecting pensioners. A few weeks ago a special examiner, Martin, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, caused the arrest of Joe Greener, alias Joseph Green, alias "Buckskin Joe," a notorious criminal and expert in this line, who has already served three terms in the penitentiary for similar offenses, and the court again sent him to the penitentiary for one year and six months. To-day the bureau is advised by Special Examiner Connolly, who is also located in Harrisburg, that he has secured the arrest of Barney Kemper, alias Joseph Dolan, alias William Dolan, at McHenrytown, Adams county, Pa. Dolan is alleged to have been calling upon pensioners in Southeastern Pennsylvania, saying to them that he had been sent out by the pension office to examine them and to see that the Board of Examining Surgeons has done them justice. He is also alleged to have represented that he had power to increase pensions or reduce them as he found them, and it is charged that after making some memoranda in reference to the pensioner's case, he would demand a fee of $1.50 to have the matter put on record. Many of the soldiers, it is said, have paid the small amount demanded and the impostor has reaped a rich harvest.

Felony is the crime with which he is charged, and the maximum penalty is three years' imprisonment or a fine of $1,000, or both, in the discretion of the court.

LATTER-DAY NOAH.

Marine Hermit Predicts Another Flood at San Francisco.

Anchored in the bay at San Francisco, is a little old craft, originally a sloop, but now nothing but a hulk, without mast or rigging. It is the floating home of Richard Smith, a marine hermit, who believes that he is to be a second Noah. He predicts that San Francisco and Oakland will sink into the sea because of their wickedness, and then a few of the select will come to him and be saved from death on his rudderless craft. He believes that he has been inspired to live on the water to avoid the destruction, and he is waiting to preserve the chosen of the order of Messiah.

Smith is seventy years old, with a long gray beard and long gray hair. He wears no covering on head or feet. He is a bachelor and has lived a hermit's life for thirty years. He lives by faith alone, and is on the verge of starvation. He could catch plenty of fish from his ark, but would rather die than eat anything of the animal world, subsisting entirely on pancakes, beans and potatoes. He formerly traveled on foot throughout the state, pushing a wheelbarrow filled with religious books, which he sold.

THE DESERT FLIGHT.

Jewish Commemoration Time is Drawing Nigh.

The great Jewish holiday season, Pesach, or Passover, begins at sunset Monday, April 8. The orthodox congregations observe the feast for eight days and the reform congregations seven.

It will be just 3,300 years, according to Jewish chronology, since the Israelites, led by Moses and Aaron, departed from Egypt. Five days before their departure each family head took to his home a lamb, considered sacred by Egyptians, which was slaughtered on the eve of the 14th day of Nisan, and after being roasted was eaten with prescribed ceremonies.

When the hour of redemption arrived the Israelites left Egypt so hurriedly that they had no time to prepare provisions, and, as it is recorded in Exodus, "They baked unleavened cakes."

In commemoration of the subsistence on unleavened bread the modern Jewish people abstain from bread during the Feast of Pesach and substitute unleavened cakes called "matzos."

DEATH OF GEN. GARZA

Graphic Description of the Fight at Bocas Del Toro.

REGULAR TROOPS CAUGHT IN A TRAP,

With Almost Certain Death Between Them and Their Arms, Make a Game and Successful Fight—American Marines on the Scene.

MOBILE, Ala., March 15.—Last night upon the arrival of the steamship Herald the Register obtained from its correspondent at Bocas Del Toro full details of the recent attack of the rebels, under Gen. Garza, upon that city. It is as follows:

UNITED STATES OF COLOMBIA, BOCAS DEL TORO, March 8. A desperate attack was made about 4 o'clock this morning by a band of rebels under Gen. Garza upon the Colombian troops quartered here and the battle waged fiercely for three hours. Bullets flew thick and fast and many of the principal buildings were riddled until they looked like sieves. The barracks here is a small frame, single-roofed store and dwelling, situated in the center of the city. The store of John Wilson & Co. is fifty feet north. John H. D. Finkle's store is directly across the street, about forty feet.

The soldiers were asleep upstairs, while their guns and ammunition were below, the steps being on the outside of the building, thereby exposing the soldiers to the fire of the rebels as they ran down to secured their arms.

As to the landing of the rebels, no definite information can be learned either as to how, when or where they landed. The general supposition is that they landed from a schooner at or near a point on Columbus island known as "Big Night."

From this point they marched through the swamp, a distance of three miles, to Bocas Del Toro. The road on the shores of the dead men proves this to be a fact. As they marched along, each government sentinel was in turn made prisoner. The outposts were policemen armed with clubs.

It was 4 a. m. when Gen. Garza and about ten men opened fire on the barracks from the Finkle building across the street.

The first man to meet his fate was the government sentinel at the barracks. As the shots were fired the second lieutenant, who was in command, ran out on the front gallery and met a similar fate. The rebels advanced and kept up a constant fire upon the barracks, where the soldiers were entrapped. The soldiers made a desperate rush down stairs for their arms and commenced to return the fire.

The troops opened fire upon the squad of rebels, who were firing from the second story of Finkle's building, and riddled the house. Garza continually called at the government troops: "Surrender, you fools!" He was heard to say in English: "The soldiers are shooting high," and ran down stairs, where he met his death. He was found dead not more than fifty feet from the barracks.

When the rebels lost their leader they lost their cause. They had the best of the battle till daylight; then the soldiers, seeing the enemy not near so strong as they supposed, rushed from the deathtrap and forced the enemy to retreat. Once getting their opponents on the run, they pursued them with renewed energy and deadly effect. They shot them to death in the streets, dragged them from houses and chased the remaining few into the swamp.

It was near 8 o'clock when the soldiers returned to the barracks and the roll was called.

The United States cruiser Atlanta was three miles from the city during the fight. She heard no report from the guns in the morning, although her lights were visible from the shore. No effort was made to communicate with her until 7 o'clock. Just as a small boat started to her, she weighed anchor and steamed away to her practice grounds.

The steam launch Mascot was sent by the American consul to await the return of the Atlanta to her anchorage. She hove in sight about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and as soon as her commander learned the facts, without a moment's delay, each officer was called and given instructions. A steam launch was lowered, a galling gun was put aboard and with three boats in tow, containing seventy-five marines, the force started for Bocas Del Toro, which was reached at 8 o'clock in the evening. The doctors from the Atlanta rendered valuable aid to Dr. Feaux, an American doctor attending the dying and wounded men and women.

Garza and his men were in front of the room occupied by Messrs. Katalis and Feaux in the second story of the Finkle building. They could not get out of their rooms, and were compelled to stand this awful fire for nearly three hours. Every bottle of medicine in Dr. Feaux's room was blown to atoms. The doctor, however, was soon about among the wounded, relieving their sufferings.

Five of the Colombian soldiers are dead and several wounded. Five of the rebels are dead and thirty-five taken prisoners.

The officers of the Atlanta are not inclined to believe that the Garza killed was the notorious bandit of the Ilo-Grande. They say he would never have made an attack with so small a force of men. Notwithstanding their ideas he was identified by one of his followers and several men who knew him in Mexico. A young man, who was his friend in Costa Rica, says it is none other than Gen. Garza. He is a tall man, with hair just turning gray; about 50 years old. He and his comrades were buried before the Atlanta marines came ashore.

Mrs. Kurt, who lived next to the barracks, on the south, was painfully wounded in the leg, and her 3-year-old child was shot in the face.

The other women and a little boy were wounded by balls passing through the house. None of these were badly injured. The steamer Premier is expected from Colon at any moment with reinforcements for the government troops.

Gen. Garza was supposed to have about eighty men. The government troops made a good, game fight under disadvantages and deserve much credit.

The aldermen who voted for the passage of the ordinance are openly accused of having received pay for so doing, and Attorney Seth Crews, for the petitioners, says he can prove the charges.

CHILDREN IN MEXICO.

Many of Them Are Said to Be Strangely Handsome.

Both Boys and Girls Are Strong and Graceful and Are Natural Artists.

—Trained to Two Remunerative Industries.

Many of the Mexican children are strangely handsome, with a sad, mature-looking beauty. Almost all of them are of mixed Indian and Spanish blood. All of them are artists.

The Spaniards who conquered Mexico and the Indians who were there at the time mixed themselves up in a racial tangle that we are absolutely unable to unravel. But for all that, the half-breed children of Mexico are to-day in many matters and in most manners more like the children of old Spain than are the children of modern Spain. The American Indians are the most conservative people on earth. The Indians of Mexico, says the Pall Mall Budget, having, through intermarriage, adopted the customs of old Spain—the Spaniards who conquered Mexico—have preserved these customs as they have not been preserved in Cordova or Madrid. The usages of old Spain have become those of the Mexican people, flesh of the Mexican flesh, and will so remain, so long as Mexico remains a characteristically individual nation. To-day in Mexico (especially in the least travel-crossed parts) the daily lives of the children are more like the daily lives of the children over whom Ferdinand helped Isabella to reign than are the daily lives of the children who to-day span themselves in the bright realms of Spain's baby king.

I have said that most of the children of Mexico are of mixed blood. There are, however, a few proud old Mexican families who have never married with the natives. Certainly the children of these few families are the fairest to look upon of Mexico's youngsters.

Mexican children of the needy class used to be trained to two remunerative industries to which they are trained no more—at least, the boys were. These two industries were diving for coins and running.

Diving for coins is a thriving trade in the waters of many latitudes, and in many longitudes; but there is nothing to prove that diving was brought to Mexico from other countries. But there are proofs and to spare that diving was for centuries part of the athletic training of every healthy Mexican boy. The boys of Mexico no longer dive for coins, because the law forbids it. So at least a high official writes who was entranced to send me a vivid picture of a Mexican boy diving. Now here is news, indeed!

In years not long gone by a goodly number of Mexican boys were, as soon as they could toddle, trained to run. They inherited supple hips, strong thighs, tireless legs and nimble feet from their fathers and their grandfathers, and their great-grandfathers' great-grandfathers. They had little or nothing save poor humanity in common with Hamlet; least of all were they ever "scant of breath," nor were they often "fat." When they grew to manhood and professional perfection they joined a corps which formed the only trusted, the only reliable messengers of Mexico. They often ran 350 miles in four and a half days. They made round trips of 700 miles in nine days, and were handsomely remunerated by twenty-five or thirty Mexican silver dollars. But this is an item of Mexico's past. The law—the law of nature, not the law of Mexico—has stepped in and said: "Enough! No more!" The Mexican runners are dead, killed by their mad overwork, and the boys of Mexico are no longer trained to a livelihood that invariably proved suicidal. The boys who used to be trained to this business were always of quite or almost unmixed Indian blood. Traces of the old running national habit are quite discernible to those who study the children of modern Mexico. Those children, for all their stolid faces and pathetic eyes, for all their Latin languor of motion, are wonderfully quick of limb.

In the cities of Mexico the vast majority of the children are dressed very similarly to the children of European cities.

An Egg of Gigantic Size.

One of the most interesting specimens in the National museum at Washington is a cast of an egg of most gigantic size, which was found in a guano bed on the Island of Madagascar about twenty-five years ago. The shell of this egg will hold almost exactly two gallons of liquid, which would make its capacity equal to 148 average eggs laid by the common barnyard fowl. The bird which laid this mammoth egg is now extinct, and has been for probably 900 years. To the scientist—who knows it by its bones and eggs—it is known as the epiornis, and its restored skeleton prove it to have been a bird at least 12 feet in height. Arab sailors who visited Madagascar centuries ago, when the epiornis was still living, are believed to have brought back the stories concerning it which finally developed into the fabulous narratives of the roc.

TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL.

Dayton Stonecipher, of Centralia, Struck by a Wabash Train.

Last night about 8 o'clock Motorman Draper, of the street car line, was started to hear the moans from an unseen person as his car crossed the Wabash at Edward street. He stopped the car and looking about found a man lying next the track badly hurt. His left arm and left leg between the knee and ankle were crushed. Help was found and the injured man was carried to the Municipal Light company's power house and Dr. H. D. Heil and Dr. P. H. Fithian were called. Examination revealed the fact that the man was probably fatally hurt. The injured man gave his name as Dayton Stonecipher, his age as 22, and his home at Centralia. No one saw the accident and Stonecipher says he did not know of the approach of the train until he was struck. He is a farm hand and had left home looking for work. Overseer Hane this morning had the unfortunate man removed to the hospital, where as soon as possible the surgeons will amputate the wrist and foot, as those members are crushed in a most frightful manner.

MAXWELL-HECKLER.

Quiet Wedding at the Home of the Bride on Broadway.

There was another happy marriage last night, March 14th. It was the wedding of Mr. Homer A. Maxwell and Miss Anna A. Heckler, which was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's father, Anthony Heckler, corner of South Broadway and Decatur streets, by Rev. Father Lammert, of the St. James German Catholic church. The interesting event was witnessed by the immediate relatives. A fine wedding repast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell have gone to housekeeping in the Whitner block, 145 South Water street. Mr. Maxwell is a son of Jacob Maxwell, and is the popular jeweler at the Grand Opera House pharmacy.

The D. P. Keller Sale.

EDITORS DECATUR REPUBLICAN-I am now very comfortably situated in my new home in Moweaqua.

The sale of my farm implements and live stock was held at my farm in Macon township on the 12th inst., and as others have been reporting sales, I send you a report of mine.

My work horses, including four three-year-old colts, unbroken, averaged $80. Two-year-olds, $42.50. Yearlings, $32.50. My Angus cows, including one out of condition, averaged $95. Two-year-old heifers, heavy in calf, $106. Yearling heifers, $70.50. Three-year-old bull, $135. Bull calf, $51. Milk cows, $50.

Of course the stock was good, and it never pays to raise scrub stock. J. T. Ward cried the sale and any one wanting the services of a first-class auctioneer will make no mistake in employing him, as he is a "dandy." I speak knowingly, as I myself have had twenty-five years experience, but have now quit the business. The sale aggregated three thousand three hundred dollars, and went without jar or even a pause from start to finish.

D. P. KELLER.

DIED.

On March 14 at his home on East Carroll street, of cancer of the throat, Henry Peyer, aged 67 years.

The deceased leaves a widow and two sons, William and Albert, and one sister. He was a brother-in-law of Supervisor C. Ammann.
